

Sri Ganesha Stotram

Sri Narada uvaca:

1. Pranamyā sirasa devan gauriputram vinayakam bhaktavasam smaren nityam ayus kamārtha siddhaye
  2. Prathamam vakratundam ca ekadantam dvitīyakam trītiyam Kṛṣṇa pingakṣam gajavaktram caturthakam
  3. Lambodaram pañcamam ca sastam vikatam eva ca saptamam vighnarajam ca dhumravarnam tathastamam 4. Navamam phalacandram ca dasamam tu vinayakam ekadasam gaṇapatim dvadasam tu gajānamam
  5. Dvadasaitāni namāni trisaṅdhyam yā pathen narah na ca vighnabhayam tasya sarvasiddhi karam param
  6. Vidyārthi labhate vidyam dhanārthi labhate dhanam putrārthi labhate putran mokṣārthi (moksama-apnuyat)*
  7. Japet Gaṇapati stotram sadbhir masāih phalam labhet samvatsarena siddhim ca labhate natra samsayah
  8. Astabhyo brahmanebhyas ca likhitva yā samarpayet tasya vidya bhavet sarva Gaṇesasya prasadatah
- iti sri narada purane samkastanasana - ganesa stotram sampurnam

* some time (labhate gatim)

Sri Narada says:

- 1. With head bowed, let me unceasingly worship in my mind the god Vinayaka, the son of Gauri, the refuge of his devotees, for the complete attainment of longevity, amorous desires and wealth.
- 2. Firstly, as the one with the twisted trunk. Secondly, as the one with the single tusk. Thirdly, as the one with the fawn colored eyes. Fourthly, as the one with the elephants mouth,
- 3. Fifthly, as the pot-bellied one, Sixthly, as the monstrous one, Seventhly, as the king of obstacles, Eighthly, as the smoke colored one
- 4. Ninethly, as the moon crested one, Tenthly, as the remover of hindrances, Eleventhly, as the Lord of the hordes, Twelfthly, as the one with the elephants face.
- 5. Whosoever repeats these twelve names at dawn, noon and sunset, for him there is no fear of failure, nay, there is constant good fortune.
- 6. He who desires knowledge obtains knowledge. He who desires sons gets sons. He who desires salvation obtains the way.
- 7. Whosoever mutters the hymn to Ganapati reaches his aim in six months, and in a year reaches perfection, on this point there is no doubt.
- 8. Whosoever makes eight copies of it, and has them distributed to as many brahmans, he reaches knowledge instantaneously, by the grace of Ganesh.